

Difference between Python2 and Python 3

Print: In Python 2, "print" is treated as a statement but in Python 3 it treats "print" as a function

Integer Division: Python 2 treats numbers without any digits after the decimal point as integers, which will lead to unexpected results during division.

Raising Exceptions: python 3 - `raise IOError("")`

Python 2 - `raise IOError, "error message "`